From its inception in California in 1974 to its highly acclaimed critical success at Joseph Papp's Public Theater and on Broadway, the Obie Award-winning for colored girls who have considered suicide/when the rainbow is enuf has excited, inspired, and transformed audiences all over the country. Passionate and fearless, Shange's words reveal what it is to be of color and female in the twentieth century. First published in 1975 when it was praised by The New Yorker for "encompassing . . . every feeling and experience a woman has ever had," for colored girls who have considered suicide/when the rainbow is enuf will be read and performed for generations to come. Here is the complete text, with stage directions, of a groundbreaking dramatic prose poem written in vivid and powerful language that resonates with unusual beauty in its fierce message to the world.

Ntozake Shange is a renowned playwright, poet (Nappy Edges and The Love Space Demands), and novelist (Sassafrass, Cypress & Indigo, Betsey Brown, and Liliane). She lives in Philadelphia.
The critics applaud Ntozake Shange's for colored girls who have considered suicide/when the rainbow is enuf

"Overwhelming. . . . It's joyous and alive, affirmative in the face of despair."
—Douglas Watt, New York Daily News

"Passionate and lyrical. . . . In poetry and prose Shange describes what it means to be a black woman in a world of mean streets, deceitful men and aching loss."
—Allan Wallach, Newsday

"These poems and prose selections are. . . . rich with the author's special voice: by turns bitter, funny, ironic, and savage; fiercely honest and personal."
—Martin Gottfried, New York Post

"Ntozake Shange’s extraordinary ‘choreopoem’ . . . is a dramatic elegy for black women with an undereurrent message for everyone. Its theme is not sorrow . . . but courage. Its strength is its passion and its reality. . . . An unforgettable collage of one woman’s view of the women of her race, facing everything from rape to unrequited love. . . . Wisdom and naivete go hand in hand. Wounds and dreams intermingle; strong passions melt into simple courage."
—William A. Raidy, L.I. Press/Newhouse Newspapers

"Remember when poetry used to give you chills, make you tremble? Ntozake Shange writes that kind of rousing poetry. It has the power to move a body to tears, to rage, and to an ultimate rush of love."
—Marilyn Stasio, Cue magazine

"Ntozake Shange's poetry approaches the force of a whirlwind."
—Encore American & Worldwide News

for colored girls who have considered suicide/ when the rainbow is enuf was first presented at the Bacchanal, a woman's bar just outside Berkeley, California. With Paula Moss & Elvia Marta who worked with me in Raymond Sawyer's Afro-American Dance Company & Halifu's The Spirit of Dance; Nashira Ntosha, a guitarist & program coordinator at KPOO-FM (one of the few Bay Area stations focusing on women's programming); Jessica Hagedorn, a poet & reading tour companion; & Joanna Griffin, co-founder of the Bacchanal, publisher of Effie's Press, & a poet. We just did it. Working in bars waz a circumstantial aesthetic of poetry in San Francisco from Spec's, an old beat hangout, to 'new' Malvina's, Minnie's Can-Do Club, the Coffee Gallery, & the Rippletad. With as much space as a small studio on the Lower East Side, the five of us, five women, proceeded to dance, make poems, make music, make a woman's theater for about twenty patrons. This was December of 1974. We were a little raw, self-conscious, & eager. Whatever we were discovering in ourselves that nite had been in process among us for almost two years.

I first met Jessica & Nashira thru Third World Communications (The Woman's Collective) when the first anthology of Third World women writers in the U.S.A. was published. With Janice Mirikitani, Avotcja, Carol Lee Sanchez, Janet Campbell Hale, Kitty Tsui, Janic Cobb, Thulani, and a score more, San Francisco waz inundated with women poets, women's readings, & a multi-lingual woman presence, new to all of us & desperately appreciated. The force of these readings on all our lives waz to become evident as we directed our energies toward clarifying our lives--& the lives of our mothers, daughters, & grandmothers--as women. During the same period, Shameless Hussy Press & The Oakland Women's Press Collective were also reading anywhere & everywhere they could. In a single season, Susan Griffin, Judy Grahn, Barbara Gravelle, & Alta, were promoting the poetry & presence of women in a legendary male-poet's environment. This is the energy & part of the style that nurtured for colored girls . . .

More stable as a source of inspiration & historical continuity waz the Women's Studies Program at Sonoma State College, where I worked with J. J. Wilson, Joanna Griffin, & Wopo Holup over a three year span. Courses designed to make women's lives & dynamics familiar to us, such as: Woman as Artist; Woman as Poet; Androgynous Myths in Literature; Women's Biography I & II; Third World Women Writers, are inextricably bound to the development of my sense of the world, myself, & women's language. Studying the mythology of women from antiquity to the present day led directly to the piece Sechita in which a dance hall girl is perceived as deity, as slut, as innocent & knowing. Unearthing the mislaid, forgotten, &/or misunderstood women writers, painters, mothers, cowgirls, & union leaders of our pasts proved to be both a supportive experience & a challenge not to let them down, not to do less than—at all costs not be less woman than—our mothers. from Isis to Marie Laurencin, Zora Neale Hurston to Kathe Kollwitz, Anna May Wong to Calamity Jane.

Such joy & excitement I knew in Sonoma, then I would commute back the sixty miles to San Francisco to study dance with Raymond Sawyer, Ed Mock, & Halifu. Knowing a woman's mind & spirit had been allowed me, with dance I discovered my body more intimately than I had imagined possible. With the acceptance of the ethnicity of my thighs & backside, came a clearer understanding of my voice as a woman & as a poet. The freedom to move in space, to demand of my own sweat a perfection that could continually be approached, though never known, waz poem to me, my body & mind ellipsing, probably for the first time in my life. Just as Women's Studies had rooted me to an articulated female heritage & imperative, so dance as explicated by Raymond Sawyer & Ed Mock insisted that everything African, everything halfway colloquial, a grimace, a strut, an arched back over a yawn, waz mine. I moved what waz my unconscious knowledge of being in a colored woman's body to my known everydayness. The depth of my past waz made tangible to me in Sawyer's Ananse, a dance exploring the Diaspora to contemporary Senegalese music, pulling ancient trampled spirits out of present tense Afro-American Dance. Watching Ed Mock re-create the Step Brothers' or Bert Williams' routines in class or on stage, in black face mimicking Eddie Cantor or Gloria Swanson, being the rush of irony & control that are the foundation of jazz dance, was as startling as humbling. With Raymond Sawyer & Ed Mock, Paula Moss & I learned the wealth of our bodies, if we worked, if we opened up, if we made the dance our own.

The first experience of women's theater for me as a performer waz the months I spent with Halifu Osumare's The Spirit of Dance, a troupe of five to six black women who depicted the history of Black dance from its origins in Western Africa thru to the popular dances seen on our streets. Without a premeditated or conscious desire to create a female piece, that's what, in fact, Halifu did. Working in San Francisco & Berkeley public schools as an adjunct to Ethnic Studies, I learned the mechanics of self-production & absorbed some of Halifu's confidence in her work, the legitimacy of our visions. After some 73 performances with The Spirit of Dance, I left the company to begin production of for colored girls . . .

In the summer of 1974 I had begun a series of seven poems, modeled on Judy Grahn's The Common Woman, which were to explore the realities of seven different kinds of women. They were numbered pieces: the women were to be nameless & assume hegemony as dictated by the fullness of their lives. The first of the series is the poem, 'one' (orange butterflies & aqua sequins), which prompted the title & this is for colored girls who have considered suicide/ when the rainbow is enuf. I waz smitten by my own language, & called all the performances I waz to give from then on by that title. In other words, all the readings & choreopoetry that Paula Moss & I developed after that summer waz for colored girls. . . We started at the Bacchanal & worked through the winter at Ed Mock's Dance Studio with the assistance of West Coast Dance Works, setting pieces & cleaning up poems. I found two bands, The Sound Clinic (a horn trio) & Jean Desarmes & His Raggae Blues Band, who agreed to work with us if I found space. & I did. The space we used waz the space I knew: Women's Studies Departments, bars, cafes, & poetry centers. With the selection of poems changing, dependent upon our audience & our mood, & the dance growing to take space of its own, so that Paula inspired my words to fall from me with her body, & The Sound Clinic working with new arrangements of Ornette Coleman compositions & their own, The Raggae Blues Band giving Caribbean renditions of Jimi Hendrix & Redding, we set dates for Minnie's Can-Do Club in Haight-Ashbury. The poets showed up for us, the dancers showed up for us, the women's community showed up, & we were listed as a 'must see' in The Bay Guardian. Eight days after our last weekend at Minnie's, Paula & I left to drive cross country to New York to do 'the show,' as we called it, at the Studio Rivbea in New York.

Our work in San Francisco waz over. With the courage of children, we staged the same sort of informal & improvised choreopoems at Rivbea during the Summer Music Festival. Instead of the Standing-Room-Only crowds we were accustomed to in San Francisco, my family & a few friends came to see our great project. One of these friends, Oz Scott, & my sister, Ifa Iyaun, who were instrumental in the development of for colored girls . . . saw the show that night. Oz offered to help me with the staging of the work for a New York audience, since Paula & I obviously didn't understand some things. We moved from the Rivbea to the Old Reliable on East 3rd Street to work through some of the ideas Oz had & the new things Paula & I were developing.
Gylan Kain of the Original Last Poets waz working there every Monday night. We worked with him & any other poets & dancers who showed up. Several members of the original New York show came to us just this haphazardly. Aku Kadogo & I both had scholarships at Diane McIntyre's Sounds-in-Motion Dance Studio. I asked her if she felt like improvising on the Lower East Side, she agreed & has been with the show ever since. Laurie Carlos stopped by one evening. She stayed. Somehow word got out & people started coming to the back room of this neighborhood bar. We were moved to a new bar down the street, DeMonte's, after eleven weeks of no-pay hard-work three sets a night—maybe a shot of cognac on the house.

The show at DeMonte's waz prophetic. By this time, December of 1975, we had weaned the piece of extraneous theatricality, enlisted Trazana Beverley, Laurie Carlos, Laurie Hayes, Aku Kadogo, & of course, Paula & I were right there. The most prescient change in the concept of the work waz that I gave up directorial powers to Oz Scott. By doing this, I acknowledged that the poems & the dance worked on their own to do & be what they were. As opposed to viewing the pieces as poems, I came to understand these twenty-odd poems as a single statement, a choreopoem.

We finally hit at DeMonte's. Those institutions I had shunned as a poet—producers, theaters, actresses, & sets—now were essential to us. for colored girls who have considered suicide/when the rainbow is enuf waz a theater piece. Woody King picked up our option to produce us as a Workshop under Equity's Showcase Code at Henry Street. With the assistance of the New York Shakespeare Festival & Joe Papp, we received space & a set, lights & a mailing list, things Paula & I had done without for two years. We opened at Henry Street with two new actresses, Thea Martinez & Judy Dearing. Lines of folks & talk all over the Black & Latin community propelled us to the Public Theater in June. Then to the Booth Theater on Broadway in September of 1976.

Every move we've made since the first showing of for colored girls . . . in California has demanded changes of text, personnel, & staging. The final production at the Booth is as close to distilled as any of us in all our art forms can make it. With two new actresses, Janet League & Rise Collins, & with the help of Seret Scott, Michelle Shay, & Roxanne Reese, the rest of the cast is enveloping almost 6,000 people a week in the words of a young black girl's growing up, her triumphs & errors, our struggle to become all that is forbidden by our environment, all that is forfeited by our gender, all that we have forgotten.

I had never imagined not doing for colored girls . . . It waz just my poems, any poems I happened to have. Now I have left the show on Broadway, to write poems, stories, plays, my dreams. for colored girls . . . is either too big for my off-off Broadway taste, or too little for my exaggerated sense of freedom, held over from seven years of improvised poetry readings. Or, perhaps, the series has actually finished itself. Poems come on their own time: i am offering these to you as what i’ve received from this world so far.

i am on the other side of the rainbow/ picking up the pieces of days spent waitin for the poem to be heard/ while you listen/for colored girls who have considered suicide/

The stage is in darkness. Harsh music is heard as dim blue lights come up. One after another, seven women run onto the stage from each of the exits. They all freeze in postures of distress. The follow spot picks up the lady in brown. She comes to life and looks around at the other ladies. All of the others are still. She walks over to the lady in red and calls to her. The lady in red makes no response.

lady in brown
dark phrases of womanhood of never havin been a girl half-notes scattered without rhythm/ no tune distraught laughter fallin over a black girl’s shoulder it's funny/ it's hysterical the melody-less-ness of her dance don’t tell nobody don’t tell a soul she’s dancin on beer cans & shingles this must be the spook house another song with no singers lyrics/ no voices & interrupted solos unseen performances

are we ghouls?
children of horror?
the joke?

are we animals? have we gone crazy?

i can't hear anythin but maddening screams & the soft strains of death & you promised me
you promised me...
somebody/ anybody sing a black girl's song bring her out to know herself to know you but sing her rhythms carin/ struggle/ hard times sing her song of life she's been dead so long closed in silence so long she doesn't know the sound of her own voice her infinite beauty she's half-notes scattered without rhythm/ no tune sing her sighs sing the song of her possibilities sing a righteous gospel let her be born

& handled warmly.

de library waz right down from de trolley tracks cross from de laundry-mat thru de big shinin floors & granite pillars ol st. louis is famous for i found toussaint but not til after months uv cajun katie/ pippi longstockir. christopher robin/ eddie heyward & a pooh bear in the children's room only pioneer girls & magic rabbits & big city white boys i knew i waznt spose dlta but i ran inta the ADULT READING ROOM & came across

TOUSSAINT

my first blk man (i never counted george washington carver cuz i didnt like peanuts) still TOUSSAINT waz a blk man a negro like my mama say who refused to be a slave & he spoke french & didnt low no white man to tell him nothin not napolean not maximillien not robespierre

TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE
waz the beginnin uv reality for me in the summer contest for who colored child can read 15 books in three weeks i won & raved abt TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE at the afternoon ceremony waz disqualified cuz Toussaint belonged in the ADULT READING ROOM & i cried & carried dead Toussaint home in the book he waz dead & livin to me cuz TOUSSAINT & them they held the citadel gainst the french wid the spirits of ol dead africans from outta the ground TOUSSAINT led they army of zombies walkin cannon ball shootin spirits to free Haiti & they waznt slaves no more

became my secret lover at the age of 8 i entertained him in my bedroom widda flashlight under my covers way inta the night/ we discussed strategies how to remove white girls from my hopscotch games & etc.
waz layin in bed wit me next to raggedy ann the night i decided to run away from my integrated home integrated street integrated school 1955 waz not a good year for lil blk girls

Toussaint said 'lets go to haiti' i said 'awright' & packed some very important things in a brown paper bag so i wdnt haveta come back then Toussaint & i took the hodiamont streetcar to the river last stop only 15¢ cuz there wasnt nobody cd see Toussaint cept me & we walked all down thru north st. louis where the french settlers usedta live in tiny brick houses all huddled together wit barely missin windows & shingles uneven wit colored kids playin & women on low porches sippin beer i cd talk to Toussaint down by the river like this waz where we waz gonna stow away on a boat for new orleans & catch a creole fishin-rig for port-au-prince then we waz just gonna read & talk all the time & eat fried bananas we waz just walkin & skippin past ol drunk men when dis ol young boy jumped out at me sayin 'HEY GIRL YA BETTAH COME OVAH HEAH N TALK TO ME' well i turned to TOUSSAINT (who waz furious) & i shouted

'ya silly ol boy ya bettah leave me alone or TOUSSAINT'S gonna get yr ass' de silly ol boy came round de corner laughin all in my face 'yellah gal ya sure must be somebody to know my name so quick' i waz disgusted & wanted to get on to haiti widout some tacky ol boy botherin me still he kept standin there kickin milk cartons & bits of brick tryin to get all in my business i mumbled to L'OUVERTURE 'what shd I do' finally i asked this silly ol boy

'WELL WHO ARE YOU?'
he say
'MY NAME IS TOUSSAINT JONES'
well
i looked right at him those skidded out cordoroy pants a striped teashirt wid holes in both elbows a new scab over his left eye & i said
'what's yr name again'
he say
'i'm toussaint jones'
'wow i am on my way to see TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE in HAITI are ya any kin to him he dont take no stuff from no white folks & they gotta country all they own & there aint no slaves' that silly ol boy squinted his face all up \textquote{looka heah girl} \textquote{i am TOUSSAINT JONES & i'm right heah lookin at ya & i dont take no stuff from no white folks ya dont see none round heah do ya?'} & he sorta pushed out his chest then he say \textquote{‘come on     lets go on down to the docks & look at the boats’} i waz real puzzled goin down to the docks wit my paper bag & my books i felt TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE sorta leave me & i waz sad til i realized TOUSSAINT JONES waznt too different from TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE cept the ol one waz in haiti & this one wid me speakin english & eatin apples yeah.
toussaint jones waz awright wit me no tellin what all spirits we cd move down by the river st. louis 1955

The lady in brown exits into the stage right volm.

The lady in red enters from the stage left volm.

\textit{lady in red} orange butterflies & aqua sequins ensconced tween slight bosoms silk roses dartin from behind her ears the passion flower of southwest los angeles meandered down hoover street past dark shuttered houses where women from louisiana shelled peas round 3:00 & sent their sons whistlin to the store for fatback & black-eyed peas she glittered in heat & seemed to be lookin for rides when she waznt & absolutely eyed every man who waznt lame white or noddin out she let her thigh slip from her skirt crossin the street she slowed to be examined & she never looked back to smile or acknowledge a sincere ‘hey mama’ or to meet the eyes of someone purposely findin sometin to do in 31/her direction she waz sullen & the rhinestones etchin the corners of her mouth suggested tears fresh kisses that had done no good she always wore her stomach out lined with small iridescent feathers the hairs round her navel seemed to dance & she didnt let on she knew from behind her waist waz aching to be held the pastel ivy drawn on her shoulders to be brushed with lips & fingers smellin of honey & jack daniels she waz hot a deliberate coquette who never did without what she wanted & she wanted to be unforgettable she wanted to be a memory a wound to every man arragant enough to want her she waz the wrath of women in windows fingetin shades/ ol lace curtains camoflagin despair & stretch marks so she glittered honestly delightted she waz desired & allowed those especially schemin/ tactful suitors to experience her body & spirit tearin/ so easily blendin with theirs/& they were so happy & lay on her lime sheets full & wet from her tongue she kissed them reverently even ankles edges of beards . . .

The stage goes to darkness except for a special on the lady in red, who lies motionless on the floor; as the lights slowly fade up the lady in red sits up.

at 4:30 AM
she rose movin the arms & legs that trapped her she sighed affirmin the sculptured man & made herself a bath of dark musk oil egyptian crystals & florida water to remove his smell to wash away the glitter to watch the butterflies melt into suds & the rhinestones fall beneath her buttocks like smooth pebbles in a missouri creek layin in water she became herself ordinary brown braided woman with big legs & full lips reglar seriously intendin to finish her night's work she quickly walked to her guest straddled on her pillows & began 'you'll have to go now/ i've a lot of work to do/ & i cant with a man around/ here are yr pants/there's coffee on the stove/ its been very nice/ but i cant see you again/you got what you came for/ didnt you' & she smiled
he wd either mumble curses bout crazy bitches or sit dumbfounded while she repeated
'i cdnt possibly wake up/ with a strange man in my bed/ why don't you go home' she cda been slapped upside the head or verbally challenged but she never waz & the ones who fell prey to the dazzle of hips painted with orange blossoms & magnolia scented wrists had wanted no more than to lay between her sparklin thighs & had planned on leavin before dawn & she had been so divine devastatingly bizarre the way her mouth fit round & now she stood a reglar colored girl fulla the same malice livid indifference as a sistah worn from supportin a wd be hornplayer or waitin by the window & they knew & left in a hurry she wd gather her tinsel & jewels from the tub & laugh gayly or vengeful she stored her silk roses by her bed & when she finished writin the account of her exploit in a diary embroidered with lilies & moonstones she placed the rose behind her ear & cried herself to sleep.
All the lights fade except for a special on the lady in red; the lady in red exits into the stage left volm.

NO MAN YA CANT GO WIT ME/ I DONT EVEN KNOW YOU/ NO/ I DONT WANNA KISS YOU/ YOU AINT BUT 12 YRS OLD/ NO MAN/ PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE LEAVE ME ALONE/ TOMORROW/ YEAH/ NO/ PLEASE/ I CANT USE IT

i cd stay alone
a woman in the world
then i moved to HARLEM
i come in at dusk stay close to the curb

The lady in yellow enters, she's waiting for a bus.

round midnite praying wont no young man think i'm pretty in a dark mornin

The lady in purple enters, she's waiting for a bus.

wdnt be good not good at all to meet a tall short black brown young man fulla his power in the dark in my universe of six blocks straight up brick walls women hangin outta windows lady in blue

i usedta live in the world
then i moved to HARLEM & my universe is now six blocks when i walked in the pacific i imagined waters ancient from accra/ tunis cleansin me/ feedin me now my ankles are coated in grey filth from the puddle neath the hydrant my oceans were life what waters i have here sit stagnant circlin ol men's bodies shit & broken lil whiskey bottles left to make me bleed

now i live in harlem & my universe is six blocks a tunnel with a train i can ride anywhere remaining a stranger

36/

37/like ol silk stockings cats cryin/ children gigglin/ a tavern wit red curtains bad smells/ kissin ladies smilin & dirt sidewalks spittin/ men cursin/ playin

The lady in orange enters, she is being followed by a man, the lady in blue becomes that man.

'I SPENT MORE MONEY YESTERDAY
THAN THE DAY BEFORE & ALL THAT'S MORE N YOU NIGGAH EVER GOTTA HOLD TO COME OVER HERE BITCH
CANT YA SEE THIS IS $5' never mind sister dont pay him no mind go go go go go sister do yr thing never mind

really be in the world free & sweet talkin good mornin & thank-you & nice day uh huh i cant now i cant be nice to nobody nice is such a rip-off reglar beauty & a smile in the street is just a set-up i usedta be in the world

a woman in the world
i hadda right to the world
then i moved to harlem
for the set-up a universe six blocks of cruelty piled up on itself a tunnel closin

The four ladies on stage freeze, count 4, then the ladies in blue, purple, yellow and orange move to their places for the next poem.

lady in purple
three of us like a pyramid three friends one laugh
one music one flowered shawl knotted on each neck

38/we all saw him at the same time & he saw us i felt a quick thump in each one of us didn't know what to do we all wanted what was coming our way so we split but he found one & she loved him

the other two were tickled & spurned his advances when the one who loved him was somewhere else he would come to her saying yr friends love you very much i have tried & they keep asking where are you she smiled
wondering how long her friends would hold out he was what they were looking for he waited till romance waned the three of us made up stories bout usedta & cda been nice the season was dry no men no quickies not one dance or eyes unrelentin one day after another cept for the one who loved him he appeared irregularly expecting graciousness no matter what she cut fresh strawberries her friends called less frequently went on hunts for passin' fancies she couldn't figure out what was happenin' then the rose she left by his pillow she found on her friends desk & there was nothing to say she said i wanna tell you he's been after me all the time says he's free & can explain what's happenin' with you is nothing to me & i don't wanna hurt you but you know i need someone now & you know how wonderful he is her friend couldn't speak or cry they hugged & went to where he was wit another woman he said good-bye to one told the other he would call he smiled a lot

she held her head on her lap the lap of her sisters soaking up tears each understanding how much love stood between them how much love between them love between them love like sisters

\textit{lady in orange} ever since I realized there was someone calling a colored girl an evil woman a bitch or a nag I been tryin' not to be that & leave bitterness in somebody else's cup/ come to somebody to love me without deep & nasty smellin scald from lye or bein left screamin in a street fulla lunatics/ whisperin slut bitch bitch niggah/ get outta here wit alla that/I didn't have any of that for you/ I brought you what joy I found & I found joy/ honest fingers round my face/ with dead musicians on 78's from cuba/ or live musicians on five dollar lp's from chicago/ where I have never been/ & I love Willie Colon & Arsenio Rodriguez/ especially cuz I can make \begin{align*} \text{the music loud enuf/ so there is no me but dance/ & when} \\ \text{i can dance like that/ there's nothin cd hurt me/ but} \\ \text{i get tired & I haveta come offa the floor & then there's} \\ \text{that woman who hurt you/ who you left/ three or four times/} \\ & just went back/ after you put my heart in the bottom of \text{yr shoe/ you just walked back to where you hurt/ & I didn't} \\ \text{have nothin/ so I went to where somebody had somethin for me/} \\ \text{but he waznt you/ & I waz on the way back from her house} \\ \text{in the bottom of yr shoe/ so this is not a love poem/ cuz there} \\ \text{are only memorial albums available/ & even Charlie Mingus} \\ \text{wanted desperately to be a pimp/ & I won't be able to see Eddie} \\ \text{Palmieri for months/ so this is a requiem for myself/ cuz I} \\ \text{have died in a real way/ not wid aqua coffins & du-wop cadillacs/} \\ \text{i used to joke abt when I waz messin round/ but a real dead} \\ \text{lovin is here for you now/ cuz I don't know anymore/ how} \\ \text{to avoid my own face wet wit my tears/ cuz I had convinced} \\ \text{myself colored girls had no right to sorrow/ & I lived} \\ \text{& loved that way & kept sorrow on the curb/ allegedly} \\ \text{for you/ but I know I did it for myself/} \\ \text{i cdnt stand it} \\ i cdnt stand bein sorry & colored at the same time \text{it's so redundant in the modern world} \end{align*}

\textit{lady in purple}

I lived wit myths & music waz my ol man & I cd dance a dance outta time/ a dance wit no partners/ take my pills & keep right on steppin/ linger in non-english speakin arms so there waz no possibility of understandin & you YOU came sayin i am the niggah/ i am the baddest muthafuckah out there/i said yes/ this is who i am waitin for & to come wit you/ i hadta bring everythin the dance & the terror the dead musicians & the hope & those scars i had hidden wit smiles & good fuckin lay open & i dont know i dont know any more tricks i am really colored & really sad sometimes & you hurt me more than i ever danced outta/ into oblivion isnt far enuf to get outta this/ i am ready to die like a lily in the desert/ & i cdnt let you in on it cuz i didnt know/ here is what i have/ poems/ big thighs/ lil tits/ & so much love/ will you take it from me this one time/please this is for you/ arsenio's tres cleared the way & makes me pure again/ please please/ this is for you i want you to love me/ let me love you/ i dont wanna dance wit ghosts/ snuggle lovers i made up in my drunkenness/lemme love you just like i am/ a colored girl/ i'm finally bein real/ no longer symmetrical & impervious to pain

we deal wit emotion too much so why dont we go on ahead & be white then/& make everythin dry & abstract wit no rhythm & no reelin for sheer sensual pleasure/ yes let's go on

& be white/ we're right in the middle of it/ no use holdin out/ holdin onto ourselves/ lets think our way outta feelin/ lets abstract ourselves some families & maybe maybe tonite/ i'll find a way to make myself come witout you/ no fingers or other objects just that which isnt spiritual evolution cuz its empty & godliness is plenty is ripe & fertile/ thinkin wont do me a bit of good tonite/ i need to be loved/ & havent the audacity to say where are you/ & dont know who to say it to lady in yellow i've lost it touch wit reality/ i dont know who's doin it i thot i waz reality but i waz so stupid i waz able to be hurt & that's not real/ not anymore/ i shd be immune/ if i'm still alive & that's what i waz discussin/ how i am still alive & my dependency on other livin beins for love i survive on intimacy & tomorrow/ that's all i've got goin & the music waz like smack & you knew abt that & still refused my dance waz not enuf/ & it waz all i had but bein alive & bein a woman & bein colored is a metaphysical dilemma/ i havent conquered yet/ do you see the point my spirit is too ancient to understand the separation of soul & gender/ my love is too delicate to have thrown back on my face

The ladies in red, green, and brown enter quietly; in the background all of the ladies except the lady in yellow are frozen; the lady in yellow looks at them, walks by them, touches them; they do not move.

my love is too delicate to have thrown back on my face

The lady in yellow starts to exit into the stage right volm. Just as she gets to the volm the lady in brown comes to life.

my love is too beautiful to have thrown back on my face

lady in purple
my love is too sanctified to have thrown back on my face there waz no air/ the sheets made ripples under his & lil specks of somethin from tween his toes or the biscuits from the day before ran in the sweat that tucked the sheet & he'd get up to make coffee, drink wine, drink water/ he wished one of his friends who knew where he waz wd come by with some blow or some shit/ anythin/ there waz no air/i sat up one nite walkin a boardin house screamin/ cryin/ the ghost of another woman who waz missin what i waz missin i wanted to jump up outta my bones & be done wit myself leave me alone & go on in the wind it waz too much i fell into a numbness til the only tree i cd see took me up in her branches held me in the breeze made me dawn dew that chill at daybreak the sun wrapped me up swingin rose light everywhere the sky laid over me like a million men i waz cold/ i waz burnin up/ a child & endlessly weavin garments for the moon wit my tears i found god in myself & i loved her/ i loved her fiercely

All of the ladies repeat to themselves softly the lines 'i found god in myself & i loved her.' It soon becomes a song of joy, started by the lady in blue. The ladies sing first to each other, then gradually to the audience. After the song peaks the ladies enter into a closed tight circle.
